Madison City Council approved a list of appointments by Mayor Bob Courtney, introduced new police and fire personnel and heard annual reports from all city departments in its first meeting of the year Tuesday at city hall.

The beginning of the annual reports included the introduction of three new staff members reported earlier in The Madison Courier: Mindy McGee, chief of staff, Hannah Fagen, director of community relations and Brian Martin, city building inspector.

Martin gave a preliminary report on the city's commercial and residential projects in 2019 — 47 commercial constructions valued at $20,745,850 and 132 residential projects valued at $23,563,659. Ten of the commercial builds and 31 of the residential are ongoing.

The city responded to 175 property nuisance calls in 2019 of which eight were declared unsafe. Two of the structures have been demolished, one is approved for demolition, two are being rebuilt and one is awaiting Department of Natural Resources approval to rebuild since it is in a flood plain.

Planning and Preservation Officer Nicole Schell gave an overview of 2019 projects. She said the city's PACE grant program gave out $73,086 in grants and the Redevelopment Commission granted another $39,413 to projects. Those projects were matched by $187,504 by property owners.

The Historic Board received 103 applications with 91 approved and five denied. The office reviewed another 45 applications, Schell said. She said the city's Stellar program also saw its biggest year since the designation was declared in 2017.

Utilities Manager Brian Jackson said the city actually spent more in 2019 than it took in through billing but much of that was for implementation of a smart meter upgrade that should make future meter reading and water purchase charges more accurate. In the past four years the city has spent $396,000 out of water department funds and $350,000 from the sewer department on the meter project and expects to spend another $200,000 in 2020.

Jackson said the city is also developing a 20-year master plan for all utilities and re-doing its sanitary sewage treatment ordinance.

Parks and Recreation Director David Stucker said the department continues to add leagues and recreation opportunities — including seventh grade basketball and cheerleading in 2019 — and is focused on using the Rucker Sports Complex even more during the summers. He said Pickleball was added to Brown Gym in 2019 with three

Switz drug stop also nets AK-47 and Glock pistol

Courier staff report

A Louisville man who was arrested on drug charges in Switzerland County on Dec. 30 was also charged with unlawful possession of a loaded AK-47 rifle and a loaded Glock pistol.

Switzerland County Deputy Sheriff Chad Terpening was responding to a call from a concerned citizen about a reckless driver traveling west on State Road 156 just west of Patriot when he executed the traffic stop that led to the arrest of Sha'von Covington, 23, of Louisville.

The caller kept the dispatcher informed on the driver's position on State Road 156 while Terpening headed east to intercept the vehicle. At the intersection of State Roads 156 and 101 Terpening said a vehicle matching the description turned into the Circle K gas station and he followed the vehicle into the parking lot to make the traffic stop.

The deputy noticed a strong odor or marijuana coming from the vehicle and a subsequent search recovered a "large amount of marijuana" as well as the loaded rifle and handgun and "items associated with the dealing of illegal narcotics."

Covington was charged with two counts of unlawful possession of a firearm by a serious violent offender, both Level 4 felonies; possession of marijuana over 30 grams, a Level 6 felony, and possession of a controlled substance, a Class A misdemeanor.

Covington appeared for a first hearing in Switzerland County Circuit Court Jan. 2. His bond was set at $3,000 cash and he is in the Switzerland County Jail.

Terpening was assisted at the scene by Chief Deputy Chris Curry and Sgt. John Mills.

2020 assembly bill on firearms loophole, juvenile offenders

By WHITNEY DOWNARD
Goshen News

INDIANAPOLIS — In the spring of 2018, a 13-year-old boy walked into his science classroom with two firearms, injuring a classmate and teacher before he could be subdued.

Under current Indiana law, the teenager will be able to buy a firearm just after his 18th birthday, something no adult assailant convicted of a similar crime could do.

A loophole in the law allows juvenile offenders to buy guns immediately after becoming a legal adult.

"I know the little girl that was shot," Sen. R. Michael Young, R-Indianapolis, said in a committee hearing. "The one thing she fears most of all is that when he turns 18, he's going to get a gun and come and shoot her."

The Senate Committee on Corrections and Criminal Law heard a bill that would close that loophole, implementing the same eight- or 10-year waiting period an adult offender would have without the requirement to return to court.

"They already have a problem with the proper use of a firearm," bill author Sen. Mike Bohacek, R-Michiana Shores, said. "It's going to give some folks a peace of mind, and we're just trying to make it a little more difficult."

The committee voted to pass the bill unanimously. It allows for juvenile offenders to have their records expunged but still have their named listed on the "do not sell" list, preventing them from legally obtaining a firearm. With the expungement, interested young adults could still join the military.

Bohacek stressed that he strongly advocated for the Second Amendment, believing in responsible use, but received support from gun sense groups such as Noblesville Stands Together and Moms Demand Action.

While the bill can't act retroactively and prevent the Noblesville teenager from obtaining a gun when he's 18, said Brian Cross, a member of Noblesville Stands together, he said it could give future offenders time to mature and access mental health services.

"We certainly want to keep those firearms away from those individuals that are mentally unstable," Cross said. "Expanding the age restriction as proposed in Senate Bill 16 (http://iga.in.gov/legislative/2020/bills/senate/16) would allow additional opportunity for mental health care for the individual."

The Indiana Public Defender Council said it was concerned that the bill would also affect children convicted as co-defendants of a crime who didn't personally handle a firearm, such as a friend riding in a car with someone who commits a violent crime with a gun.

IU to commemorate its founding this month in 1820

By MICHAEL RESCHKE
(Bloomington) Herald-Times

A supercomputer, a 130-foot tall bell tower and an Academy Award-winning actress will help Indiana University celebrate its 200th anniversary this month. All three are part of the university's Day of Commemoration planned for Jan. 20, the date in 1820 when Indiana Gov. Jonathan Jennings signed a bill that led to the creation of IU.

"We've got a whole day's worth of programming," said Jeremy Hackerd, project manager in the IU Office of the Bicentennial. "We're starting in the morning and going through the evening hours."

The university's yearlong bicentennial celebration officially began July 1. Several bicentennial events, such as the 200 Festival, took place during the first semester of the 2019-20 school year. There are more programs scattered throughout the next six months, with the Day of Commemoration being one of the biggest.

A dedication ceremony for IU's new supercomputer, Big Red 200, is scheduled for 10 a.m. Jan. 20 at the Cyberinfrastructure Building, 2709 E. 10th St.

The public event will celebrate one of the fastest university-owned supercomputers in the country. It's almost 6,000,000 times faster than an iPhone XS.

The bells of the Metz Bicentennial Grand Carillon will ring for the first time about 11:15 a.m.

The construction of the steel tower that houses the giant instrument is the result of a $7 million project that included demolition of a concrete tower off North Jordan Avenue that once housed the Metz Carillon. The new tower is in the arboretum, just west of the Wells Library.

Carillons date back to medieval times. They provided music but also warned of impending danger.

Today there are about 600 carillons across the globe. The Metz Grand Bicentennial Carillon has 65 bells — four more than the previous incarnation. The additional bells make it a grand carillon, one of fewer than 30 such instruments in the world.

A full concert is being planned for some time later in the year, when the weather will be warmer.

"We don't want to do a full concert in the middle of winter," Hackerd said.

Two new paintings described as allegorical representations of the university's motto of lux et veritas — light and truth — will be unveiled during an invitation-only luncheon in Franklin Hall.

The paintings by Bonnie Sklarski, professor emerita in the School of Art, Architecture and Design, will be mounted on the north wall of Presidents Hall, the large group room inside Franklin Hall.

A replica of a giant sloth skeleton that was once housed on the Bloomington campus will also be unveiled during the luncheon in the commons area of Franklin Hall. The original megalonyx jeffersonii skeleton, along with those of other ancient animals, was discarded during a scramble for space when university enrollment across the U.S. and at IU Bloomington grew rapidly after World War II.

The replica, known as Megajeff, will remain in the Franklin Hall commons for a couple of weeks before being moved to displays elsewhere, Hackerd said.

Actress Viola Davis, who won an Oscar in 2017 for her portrayal of Rose Mazson in the film "Fences," is scheduled to give a lecture at 4 p.m. at Simon Skjodt Assembly Hall. The free event is part of both IU's bicentennial and Martin Luther King Jr. Day celebrations. Tickets are required. They can be obtained on the IU Auditorium website — iuauditorium.com — or at the IU Auditorium box office.

The day concludes with the unveiling of a new addition to the mural in the Wright Quad Residence Hall food court during an invitation-only dinner.

Existing murals depict IU's history from 1820 to 1998. The new mural was created to represent the university's history from 1998 to 2020.

Throughout the spring 2020 semester, university and state historical markers will be unveiled on IU campuses across Indiana.

A mobile IU museum, known as "All For You," will continue traveling the state. The red Winnebago made its debut during the 200 Festival in September. Displays inside include artifacts from all IU campuses.

Time capsules will be dedicated on April 23 at all IU campuses. This will coincide with IU Day, an event created in 2016 to help reach what was then a $2.5 billion bicentennial fundraising campaign goal (it has since been increased to $3 billion).

The yearlong celebration concludes in June with the Bicentennial Alumni Reunion. This event begins June 1 at Indiana University-Purdue University Indianapolis and moves to the Bloomington campus June 6.

The reunion will feature facility tours, lectures and movie screenings. On the last day, there will be music performances and other entertainment on the Fine Arts Plaza, 1299 E. Seventh St. Details for this and other IU bicentennial events can be found online at 200.iu.edu.

Police say semi near 70 mph when fatal crash occurred

Indiana

LEBANON — A Michigan man faces three preliminary charges of reckless homicide after the semitrailer he drove plowed into eight other vehicles on Interstate 65 Sunday, killing three people and injuring 14 more, police report. Authorities said they believe Small was driving at interstate speed, about 70 miles per hour, at the time of the crash, based on his and a witness statement. Matthew L. Small, 34, of Grandville, Mich., is in the Boone County Jail on the Level 5 felony charges, awaiting a hearing. Small denied media requests for an interview Monday but released a note through the Boone County Sheriff's Office. In it, he said: "My heart and prayers are with the families. I am in agony over this whole ordeal." Small told authorities he looked down to set his coffee mug down at about 11 a.m. Sunday and slammed the semitrailer he drove into traffic that was at a stand-still ahead of him on Interstate 65 north near the Zionsville exit, the Boone County Sheriff's Office said in a statement. Drugs and alcohol are not believed to be factors in the wreck, Boone County Sheriff's Sgt. Chris Burcham said. Records indicate Small submitted to drug and alcohol screening at Witham Health Services at Anson. Small's truck caused a crash involving eight vehicles, according to the news release. He first hit a car carrying Mariah Tomey, 21, her daughter Hadley Tomey, 1, and Kaylee Kirk, 19, all of Lebanon, Burcham said. All three perished. Thirteen others were taken to St. Vincent Hospital in Indianapolis and one to Riley Hospital for Children, all with non-lifethreatening injuries, police reported. One vehicle carrying a couple and their 15-year-old daughter was pushed over the guardrail and flipped, Burcham said. The mother was able to get out, while first responders freed the girl who was thought to have a broken femur, and the Zionsville Fire Department worked about 30 minutes to free the father, Burcham said. Six other vehicles were seriously damaged, police reported.

AG announces group effort to cut child abuse

LOUISVILLE — The new attorney general has pledged to work with federal and state prosecutors, children's advocates, medical experts and others to try to reduce the number of child abuse cases in the state. "We are No. 1 in child abuse and neglect, and that has to stop, especially as we move into the new decade," Attorney General Daniel Cameron said during a news conference Tuesday to announce the effort. Cameron, who was sworn in Monday, said he joined a round-table discussion with various groups at the Kentucky Youth Advocates office in Louisville to discuss how they could better coordinate their work, the Courier Journal reported. The newspaper reported last summer that federal statistics show Kentucky has the highest rate of child abuse or neglect in the nation. Cameron said his office will develop a manual to help prosecutors statewide as they seek convictions on abuse and neglect charges. "We need to do something meaningful," Cameron said.

Humane Society sees spike in cat adoptions

LOUISVILLE — The Kentucky Humane Society had its largest adoption year on record with about 6,902 animal adoptions in 2019. The Humane Society said it was the first year that cat adoptions outnumbered dogs. In total, 3,424 cats found new homes compared to 3,398 dogs. Adoption officials said cat adoptions have been increasing over the last few years. Humane Society spokeswoman Andrea Blair said cats are popular with seniors, busy families, renters and people who travel for work. Blair said 1,583 cat adoptions took place at Purrfect Day Café, which opened in August 2018. The cafe serves coffee, snacks and cocktails while patrons interact with adoptable kittens and cats. Total adoptions were up 816 from 2018.

Kentucky State Police open new post

ELIZABETHTOWN — Kentucky State Police opened a new facility to house one of its posts as well as a training facility. Post 4's 61,754-square-foot campus opened Tuesday in Elizabethtown. The facility also includes an evidence storage area that can be used by multiple posts, Col. Chad White said in a news release. "We were able to utilize a building and land that was already owned by the Commonwealth and partnered with other state agencies to renovate the space in a cost-effective manner," White said. Post 4 serves Breckinridge, Bullitt, Grayson, Hardin, Jefferson, Larue, Meade and Nelson counties.

Man arrested trying to support jailed lover

LANCASTER — Authorities say they've arrested a man who wanted to go to jail to support his jailed girlfriend. Raymond Pace, 47, was charged with offenses including possession of methamphetamine, heroin and drug paraphernalia, news outlets report. Pace called authorities Saturday to report a stolen laptop, according to a statement by Garrard County police. Officer Steven Debord arrived to find an intoxicated Pace requesting to be jailed for several months to support his girlfriend, who Pace said was serving five months in jail, according to the statement. Pace explained that he needed to be jailed with her so she would not be stressed, police said. Pace shoved the officer in an attempt to be arrested, but the officer demurred until Pace pulled out a bundle of drug paraphernalia, police said.

Woman, 3 kids die in home fire

PINEVILLE — A woman and three children died Tuesday morning when their residence caught fire, police said. Firefighters and police officers responding to the blaze in Bell County found the four dead inside the mobile home, Kentucky State Police said in a statement. Police said the children lived in the home with their grandmother, who had custody of them. The cause of the fire hasn't been determined, but police said no foul play is suspected. Police identified the dead as Beulah Mullins, 59; Sierra Posey, 12; Canthia Posey, 11; and Shawn Posey, 8. Officials continue to investigate the blaze, police said.

Laid off coal miners say final wages still unpaid

PINEVILLE — Employees laid off from a coal company last month say they haven't received their final paycheck or payment for unused vacation days, according to a former company manager. About 75 Perry County Coal employees didn't receive their final paychecks, and the remaining maintenance crew of 24 workers and security guards haven't been paid since mid-December, David Mullins, former general manager of the company, told the Lexington Herald-Leader on Monday. Perry County Coal once employed 300 miners, the newspaper reported. Those numbers were quickly slashed after the American Resources Corporation purchased it in September from Cambrian Coal, which filed for bankruptcy and sold most of its assets in Eastern Kentucky.

Charlie's Beat

North Vernon native makes his mark in our Music City

By CHARLIE ROHLFING

Tracy Thompson has a high, sweet singing voice and an absolute zeal for performing in front of an audience. (And I can safely say I've never typed the word "zeal" in any context in my lifelong career as a writer. But no other word I can think of more accurately describes Tracy's enthusiasm, his delight and, well, his zeal!)

"I just love to sing for people," Tracy said, with an infectious smile on his face. "I'm at a point in my life where I'm trying to play out more, do the things that make me happy."

I caught his show recently at Mad Paddle Brewery with Elaine Basham singing harmony, and the sound was spot on. "I was lucky to find Elaine, or rather, she found me. I was playing at Stream Cliff, where she works, and she asked if she could sit in with me. I asked if she knew my songs, and she said she was a fast learner. She wasn't lying. It usually only takes one verse and chorus of a new song and she has it down."

People may recognize the name Thompson in North Vernon where his family ran Thompson Motors for three generations. And while Tracy is still in the wholesale car business, his energies these days are focused a lot more on music.

Tracey Thompson and Elaine Basham

"I started many years ago playing with Granville Johnson every Tuesday night at honky tonks like The Cellar in North Vernon. When he died back in 2003 it kinda took the wind out of me, musically. But lately I've been getting back into it, booking gigs around the area.

"I've played Mad Paddle a couple times now, played at Thomas Family and the Riverboat Inn.

"I also released an album recently. My friend Tony Bryant has a recording studio and he basically cajoled me into it. He asked me what my favorite 12 songs were, and when I told him, he said, 'OK now we're going to record them.'

"I did the album-release party at the restored Park Theater in North Vernon and all these friends came out to play with me. It was the best night of music I've ever had.

"But speaking as a North Vernon native, experiencing Madison now as a musician, I have to say there is nowhere else that I know that even comes close. I like to call it the Nashville of the Ohio Valley. In fact, there is so much talent here it's somewhat of a tough nut to crack, as far as getting gigs. Lots of competition!

"And frankly, even larger cities like Indy that have a bigger music scene, just by virtue of population, are still not as cool as Madison. This place has a vibe that no one else can match."

HOT TIP OF THE WEEK:

On Thursdays, Rembrandt's is starting a fun, new thing. Leonard Miller will be doing live music trivia on the piano. This week is movie themes and show tunes. Hippies Music right up the road in Vernon has live music every night this week, starting Thursday. And remember, you can start early now on Saturdays at Mad Paddle with live music (it was a great time at the inaugural show last Saturday) and then head out to one of the other venues later. I'm a big fan of the Falls City Boys who will be at the Taproom.

Charlie Rohlfing is a retired advertising man and partner in The Red Bicycle Hall music venue. Look for his distinctive fedora bobbing above the crowd, anywhere live local music is happening.

courts open from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Monday through Friday and the tennis courts at the former Madison Country Club are earmarked for revitalization for use for Pickleball and other racquet sports and at some point that facility would probably be added to the parks system.

Stucker said one of the expenses parks is facing in 2020 involves electrical and lighting projects at Rucker Complex, John Paul Park and Bicentennial Park and replacement of the heating and air-conditioning system at the Comfort Station on Main Street.

Street Department Superintendent Tony Sorrells went over his 2019 report, noting Public Works ended the year with a $118,429 balance while motor vehicles and highways had a balance of $223,902 remaining with one outstanding bill.

Sorrells said the city resurfaced 23 streets in 2019 — Vaughn Drive the biggest — and replaced 61 curbs and sidewalks, built 58 handicapped ramps and did several drainage repairs and replaced culverts.

The street department also supported several of the city's festivals by putting up temporary fencing, electrical systems and stages and then taking it all back down, including 109 hours for RiverRoots at a cost of $3,124; 208 hours for Ribberfest at a cost of $4,061, and 380 hours for Madison Regatta at a cost of $8,465.

Sorrells said the city sanitation department collected 3,021 tons of garbage in 2019 with 7,666 hauled by Rumpke. The compost program collected 1,564 tons and 343 tons of leaves were collected with that program still winding down. He said the city collected 1,193,800 pounds of recyclables as well as 188,000 pounds of metal at the transfer station.

Matt Wirth, the city's new director of economic development, said he was just getting started and only two days into his work year, but he recapped several projects that he and the city played a role in when he worked for the Jefferson County Industrial Development Corporation in 2019, including redevelopment projects at the Cotton Mill and Armour Plastics.

Wirth said he is working with Madison Consolidated High School's Cub Manufacturing, Cub Engineering and Cub Diesel programs, Ivy Tech and Hanover College engineering to help develop curriculum and classes to "prepare students for careers right here in Jefferson County."

Madison Police's deputy chief, Major Ben McKay, said police service calls were up 1,800 over 2018 with 12,409 total dispatches. He said vandalism, breaking and entering/theft calls and reports of suspicious subjects in vehicles all increased.

In related business, Courtney issued the oath of office to two new police officers — Patrolmen Joseph Gibson and Cameron Blankenship.

Courtney also administered the annual oath of office to the city's fire department leadership with Bill DeVries renamed chief, Ken Washer deputy chief and Travis Conover chief of Battalion 1 and Josh Gourley chief of Battalion 2.

DeVries said the fire department went on 730 calls in 2019 of which 265 were fires and 465 were medical or rescue emergencies. He said 500 free smoke detectors were installed in the city and county and firefighters completed a record 3,169 training hours.

DeVries introduced 10 new firefighters who recently completed their Level 1 Certification and issued them their new helmets. The group included Breeana Chandler, Austin Schell, Damian Gibson, Tyler Jackson, Loren Marsh, Zaine Thomas, Cameron Rampy, Logan Gray, Paul Manaugh and Katie Napier.

Brent Spry, manager of the Madison Municipal Airport, reported that 2019 was a record-setting year. He said the self-serve fuel farm sold 116,000 gallons of fuel to planes using the airport — more than double 2018 — and the annual air show in September drew more than 1,000 spectators on less than a $5,000 budget.

The airport also received a federal grant to install a $1.2 million wildlife fence around the property and work is beginning. The airport is also again offering a flight school for residents seeking pilot training and 12 students have enrolled.

In other business, the council unanimously approved Courtney's mayoral appointments to several boards that have meetings in the near future, including:

• Reappointment of Anthony Branden and Ray Wilson to the Port Authority for four-year terms. One vacancy remains on that board.

• Appointment of Mike Pittman and Ken McWilliams and the re-appointment of Tom Stark to the Historic Board of Review for three-year terms. Pittman and McWilliams replace John Collins and Valecia Crisafulli.

• Reappointment of Sue Livers and Shirley Kleopfer and the appointment of Season Jackson to the Human Relations Board for three-year terms.

• Reappointment of Julie Rubio, Kathy Rohfling and Theresa Stroll to the Tree Board for three-year terms.

The council also approved the re-appointment of Joe Craig and the appointment of Madison Consolidated Schools Supt. Jeff Studebaker to one-year terms on the Redevelopment Commission. Studebaker will fill a vacancy created when Ann Suchocki stepped down.

The council also approved two appointments to the city's Plan Commission. Jerry Ralston will fill a vacancy on the board with council member Patrick Thevenow asking for and receiving approval to serve as the city council's appointee on the commission as council member Katie Rampy steps down.

The council also unanimously elected Rampy, council member for the fourth district, as the city's mayor pro tempore.

In Loving Memory of

Dorothy Darnall Jones

Dorothy Darnall Jones was born in Wabash, Indiana November 26, 1927 to Maynard Carver and Edna Hunt Darnall. The family moved to Crawfordsville, Indiana in August of 1928 where Maynard Darnall was Principal of Crawfordsville High School and then became superintendent of the School City of Crawfordsville in 1930.

Mrs. Jones was graduated from Crawfordsville High School with the Class of 1945. She was graduated from Purdue University in 1949 where she was a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority and Triton, a swimming honorary. Mrs. Jones taught Home Economics (now Consumer and Family Sciences) at Crawfordsville High School 28 years, retiring in 1985.

Dorothy Darnall and Marsh Henry Jones, Jr. were married August 19, 1950 in Crawfordsville and they were married 54 years. They had one son, Marsh Burkett Jones, daughter-in law Marci Auxier Jones, and one grandson, Corey Burkett Jones of Madison, Indiana. Mr. Jones died November 14, 2004 in Madison, Indiana.

Mrs. Jones was a member of St. John's Episcopal Church in Crawfordsville, and Christ Episcopal Church in Madison. She was a charter member of Department G of the Crawfordsville Art League, and a past President of the Crawfordsville Art League. She was a member of Tri Kappa and a past President of the associate chapter of Tri Kappa in Crawfordsville. She was also Chairman of the Home Economics section of the Indiana State Teacher's Association. She was a member of Dorothy Q Chapter of Daughters of American Revolution in Crawfordsville.

Mrs. Jones was a docent at Sullivan House for Historic Madison, Inc. and also for the Jefferson County Historical Society. She was a member of the Jefferson County Civil War Round Table. In 2008 Mrs. Jones published a biography of Emilie Todd Helm who was Mary Todd Lincoln's half sister and who lived in Madison in 1866-1874 with her mother and three children. This research was the result of Mrs. Jones' being a docent at the Emilie Todd Helm house in Madison during the Candlelight Tour of homes in 2005.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones lived on Marshland Farm north of Crawfordsville 53 years. Mrs. Jones was widely traveled—Alaska, Europe, Kenya, Egypt, New Zealand and Australia, Tahiti and Fiji, Canada and Mexico. She traveled on Amtrak cross country and on both coastlines. Mrs. Jones and her grandson enjoyed three train trips coast to coast and a cruise. In September 1987 she shook hands with Princess Diana in Durham, England.

Mrs. Jones was the first woman in Montgomery county to obtain an amateur radio license—her call letters were W9HRR . The family enjoyed living on a houseboat on the Ohio River in Madison, Indiana in the summers.

Mrs. Jones was accomplished in the crafts of quilting, weaving, sewing, knitting, and English smocking.

Preceding Mrs. Jones in death were her husband, Marsh H. Jones, Jr., her parents, Maynard and Edna Hunt Darnall, her brothers, Maynard C. Darnall, Jr. and Edward C. Darnall, two sisters, Marietta Darnall Schilling and Martha Darnall Bozell, one nephew, Dr. Robert Darnall Bozell, and one niece, Mary Kathrine Schilling Riehle. She is survived by her son, Marsh Burkett Jones, daughter-in-law, Marci Auxier Jones, and grandson, Corey Burkett Jones. Also surviving are her nieces, Dr. Margaretta Jean Darnall, Jean Ann Darnall Gonzales, Carol Ann Schilling Harrel, and Joan Schilling Carrico. Nephews surviving are Ernest H. Schilling II, Dr. Ralph R. Bozell III, and William Woodward Bozell.

The Reverend Evelyn Wheeler will conduct a celebration of life service at 10:30 AM Saturday, January 11, 2020 at Christ Episcopal Church, 506 Mulberry Street in downtown Madison.

Memorial contributions may be made to Waycross Conference Center, 7363 Bear Creek Road, Morgantown Indiana 46160.

BOYS BASKETBALL

Rebels back to form in 68-51 win over Providence

By DAVID CAMPBELL
Courier Staff Writer
dcampbell@madisoncourier.com

Southwestern's boys have had their share of slings and arrows thrown their way over the past several weeks with injuries and losses mounting at an alarming rate. But on Tuesday, the Rebels showed they're on the road to being their old selves.

Southwestern played a dominating first 16 minutes then fended off a late rally to knock off Providence 68-51 in a basketball matchup of the two best teams in Sectional 45.

The Rebels jumped out to a 24-8 lead after the first quarter and led 38-13 at one point in an impressive display of defense and teamwork over the first two quarters. Providence eventually cut the lead to three late in the third quarter but Southwestern rebounded to close the game on a rush and win going away.

How big was the win? Even the normally stoic coach of the team, Jerry Bomholt, was pumping his fist and smiling as the final horn sounded.

"The first half was probably, very honestly, the best basketball we've played in a couple of years. For a half, we played absolutely well on both ends of the floor," Bomholt said. "But the thing that made me the most proud was that we were able to take the lead right back out and ended up winning by 17 and that shows an awful lot of character by our kids."

Southwestern opened the season ranked in the top 10 and won five of its first six games, but knee injuries to starters Matthew Williams and Zach Cole, coupled with a tough

GIRLS BASKETBALL

Quick start leads Cubs over Braves

COURIER STAFF REPORT
sports@madisoncourier.com

Madison jumped out to a 20-2 lead and held off a late rally to post a huge 49-40 win at Brownstown in girls basketball on Tuesday.

Brownstown entered the game with a 14-2 record and ranked just outside the top 10 in Class 3A, but Madison went through the Braves at will in the opening quarter and led by 18.

Brownstown recovered and began chopping into the Madison lead, pulling to within 39-33 by the end of the third quarter. But the Cubs held on, outscoring the Braves 10-7 over the final eight minutes to claim their 10th win of the season.

Jade Nutley scored 17 points and grabbed 14 rebounds to lead Madison while Paige Young scored 10 points.

Maddy Hackman had 15 points, Katherine Benter scored 11 and Ashley Schroer had 10 for the Braves.

Madison, now 10-5 on the season, travels to Hoosier Hills Conference foe New Albany Thursday. The Cubs then visit Class 3A No. 7 Silver Creek Tuesday.

Hilltoppers fall to Borden

Shawe's girls basketball dropped a 36-25 loss at home to Borden on Tuesday.

The Hilltoppers made up ground from the last time they faced the Braves when they were routed 53-5 in late November.

Shawe, now 4-9 on the season, hosts Rock Creek Thursday and travels to Oldenburg Friday.

Pacers sweep Rebels in tri-meet at home

sports@madisoncourier.com

Switzerland County swimmers claimed 11 individual wins to power the Pacers to a sweep of Southwestern in a tri- meet on Tuesday in Vevay.

The host Pacers scored close wins in both meets with the girls winning 57-46 and the boys winning 61-40. Shawe finished third in the boys meet with six points.

Southwestern actually had more individual wins in the girls meet than Switzerland County but lost due to the Pacers' depth. Switzerland won seven of the nine events in the boys meet.

"Tonight's meet wasn't bad. We had some best times from Audrey Bare and Belle Crawford. We worked hard over break, and the kids are showing some midseason fatigue," Southwestern coach Shelly Anderson said. "We expect that as we return to school and get back into the routine. We have two home meets next week and then the conference meet on the 18th, so we are focusing there for now."

Reds agree to $21 million, 3-year deal with Japanese OF Shogo Akiyama

By JOE KAY
AP Sports Writer

CINCINNATI — Outfielder Shogo Akiyama agreed to a $21 million, three-year deal with the Cincinnati Reds, the only major league team that hasn't had a player born in Japan.

Akiyama, 31, became a free agent after his ninth season with the Seibu Lions in Japan's Pacific League, where he was a five-time All-Star. The center fielder could move to one of the corner spots in Cincinnati's unsettled outfield.

Akiyama gets $6 million this year, $7 million in 2021 and $8 million in 2022.

Center fielder Nick Senzel is returning from surgery on his right shoulder, and the addition of Akiyama gives the Reds another option at that spot. They also have outfielders Aristides Aquino, Jesse Winker and Phillip Ervin.

"We scouted Shogo for several years in anticipation of his free agency," said Dick Williams, Cincinnati's president of baseball operations. "We like his approach at the plate as well as his outfield defense, and we think he will complement our team very well."

Shogo Akiyama

It's the second significant offseason move by the Reds to try to upgrade an offense that ranked near the bottom of the NL in runs last season. They also signed second baseman baseman Mike Moustakas to a $64 million, four-year deal — the largest for a free agent in club history.

Cincinnati also signed Wade Miley to a $15 million, two-year contract that added a left-hander to its deep rotation that already included All-Stars Luis Castillo and Sonny Gray, along with Trevor Bauer and Anthony DeSclafani.

The Reds are trying to emerge from a rut of six straight losing seasons.

During nine seasons in the Japanese major leagues, Akiyama batted .301 and was honored four times as one of the league's top defensive outfielders. He set a Nippon Professional Baseball season record with 216 hits in 2015.

With Seibu last season, he batted .303 with 31 doubles, four triples, 20 homers and 62 RBIs, winning his fifth All-Star spot.

Kentucky takes control late, beats Georgia, 78-69

By CHARLES ODUM
AP Sports Writer

ATHENS, Ga. — The Kentucky Wildcats didn't rebound well in the first half. They didn't shoot free throws well all game.

Somehow, it all came together for another win over Georgia.

Immanuel Quickley's 3-pointer gave No. 14 Kentucky its first lead of the second half and the Wildcats overcame Anthony Edwards' 23 points to beat Georgia 78-69 on Tuesday night and continue their domination of the Southeastern Conference rivalry.

Kentucky (11-3, 2-0) trailed 37-31 at halftime before finally taking the lead on Quickley's 3 with 8:06 remaining. Georgia (10-4, 0-1) never regained the lead as the Wildcats won their 13th straight in the series.

Tyrese Maxey and Nick Richards each had 17 points and seven rebounds for Kentucky. Quickley added 15 points.

Kentucky, which leads the SEC and ranks fourth in the nation with 80.1% free-throw shooting, had an off night, making 10 of 20 attempts.

"We won without making free throws today," said coach John Calipari, sounding almost surprised. "It's good to know we can do that."

The Bulldogs hoped to gain momentum from last Saturday's win at then-No. 9 Memphis. It was Georgia's first road win over a top-10 team since 2004. The Bulldogs were in position to beat another ranked opponent before the Wildcats took control.

Finally, in the final minute, Kentucky fans in the sellout crowd of 10,523 chanted "Go Big Blue!"

Kentucky point guard Ashton Hagans returned from a left ankle injury to start and score 13 points. The injury forced Hagans, from Cartersville, Georgia, to sit out Saturday's 71-59 win over Missouri in the Wildcats' SEC opener. He started against the Bulldogs after moving with no difficulty in pregame warmups.

"He is a tough hombre," Calipari said of Hagans. "The guy is physically tough and strong and he uses it."

Hagans had a slow start, missing a 3-pointer and a layup in the opening minute. The sophomore was 0 for 5 from the field before breaking his drought with a layup to start a three-point play midway through the half. He made 4 of 12 shots.

Edwards had the fans on their feet when he made his first two shots, including a 3, for a 5-0 lead. Kentucky answered with 10 straight points.

The Bulldogs closed the half with an 11-5 run. Edwards capped Georgia's scoring in the half with a powerful baseline jam before Hagans answered with a 3.

Quickley's 3-pointer from the corner gave the Wildcats their first advantage of the second half, 58-57. Following a timeout, Maxey blew past the Georgia defense to score on a windmill layup, and Nick Richards' three-point play capped a 10-0 run that pushed Kentucky's lead to 63-57.

Edwards said Georgia's defense suffered a second-half letdown. The Wildcats made 17 of 29 shots (58.6%) after halftime.

"I feel like we just didn't play with toughness in the second half," Edwards said. "I played bad defense. We all played bad defense."

PRO INTEREST

There was good representation from the Atlanta Hawks in the stands. General manager Travis Schlenk had a seat but was one-upped by point guard Trae Young, who sat on the front row beside rapper Quavo. Young's presence caught the attention of Edwards, who gestured toward the Hawks star after his big jam late in the first half.

NUTS ABOUT GEORGIA

Calipari called Georgia "one of the top two or three jobs in our league" and predicted coach Tom Crean would build a winner. Calipari said he took a walk around Athens and the campus on Tuesday and was impressed. "This is an unbelievable school," he said, adding, "The campus is nuts. The downtown area is nuts."

BIG PICTURE

Kentucky: The Wildcats finally began using their size advantage inside with E.J. Montgomery (6-foot-10, 228 pounds) and Richards (6-11, 247) in the second half. Georgia had a 24-17 advantage in rebounds in the first half, but Kentucky finished with a 40-36 edge. Richards scored 13 points and had five rebounds in the second half. ... Maxey had eight assists and blocked four shots. Hagans had five assists and four steals.

Georgia: The Bulldogs continue to improve in Crean's second season, but they couldn't pull off their first win over Kentucky since March 7, 2013. Rayshaun Hammonds had only nine points and four rebounds before fouling out with 1:09 remaining. There was too little help from Georgia's other inside players. The Bulldogs finished with a poor combination of 11 assists and 14 turnovers, including four by freshman point guard Sahvir Wheeler.

UP NEXT

Kentucky: The Wildcats host Alabama Saturday.

Georgia: The Bulldogs play at No. 5 Auburn, which joins Kentucky as the SEC's only ranked teams, on Saturday night.

Petition suggests medical marijuana for Bengals fans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Petitioners are again asking the State Medical Board of Ohio to consider adding anxiety and autism spectrum disorders to the list of conditions that qualify for a doctor to recommend medical marijuana for patients.

The conditions suggested in the second round of petitions the board received also include a football-related ailment: being a fan of the Cincinnati Bengals or the Cleveland Browns, both teams coming off disappointing seasons.

Don't expect that proposal to make it very far as a board committee reviews the petitions next month. Board members consider information from medical experts and scientific evidence before deciding whether to add a condition to the list.

The panel received 28 petitions for potential new qualifying conditions during the latest window for such submissions — far fewer than in the initial round — but hasn't yet released details about who submitted each petition and the arguments they made.

The list already includes conditions such as AIDS, cancer, epilepsy and Alzheimer's disease. Last year, the board rejected petitions to add anxiety and autism spectrum disorders.

Spegal leads run of state title players for all-state football

By MICHAEL MAROT
AP Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS — Charlie Spegal spent four years breaking records and compiling honors.

Now the senior running back who led New Palestine to two straight undefeated seasons can add another award to his growing list: A second straight appearance on the The Associated Press Class 5A all-state team.

Spegal might have been the easiest selection of the six classes, selected by a panel of Indiana sports writers and broadcasters with input from the Indiana Football Coaches Association.

The 5-foot-11, 225-pound Spegal shattered state records for career yards (10,867) and career touchdown runs (173), becoming the first player in state history to produce two 3,000-yard seasons. Sammy Mireles of Elwood held the state's previous rushing record with 8,110 yards.

He led New Palestine to 28 consecutive wins and back-to-back state titles after leaving Delta following his sophomore season and set a national record in 2018 by running for 68 TDs.

As a result, Spegal was the runaway winner in the IndyStar Mr. Football Award balloting last month, was named the state's Gatorade player of the year and added another all-state selection to a resume that already included Class 4A honorable mention selections in 2016 and 2017 while playing for Delta.

Spegal didn't do all that by himself, of course. Two teammates, defensive lineman Kyle King and defensive back Maxen Hook, also made the Class 5A list.

And the state championship teams were again well-represented.

Western Boone quarterback Spencer Wright, the Mr. Football runner-up, and three of his teammates — receiver Connor Hole, offensive lineman Casey Foster and linebacker Brett Wethington — all were chosen.

Three seniors from state champion Carmel, including promising linebacker Ty Wise, were selected in Class 6A. Wise finished a distant third in the Mr. Football voting.

Evansville Memorial and East Noble, the two state finalists in Class 4A, each had two players selected. Evansville Memorial won its first 4A title 21-3 on Nov. 30.

The trend was even more pronounced in the smaller classes.

Running back Daylen Taylor led a group of five players from undefeated state champion Indianapolis Chatard on the Class 3A team while state finalists Lafayette Central Catholic and Indianapolis Lutheran combined to take eight of the 25 spots on the Class A team. Central Catholic captured the title by handing Lutheran its only loss of the season, 29-28, and both teams had four players named to the teams.

The question now for Spegal and other all-state selections is what happens next?

Spegal turned down scholarship offers from Army and Indiana State, opting instead to join the home-state Hoosiers as a preferred walk-on. In Bloomington, he hopes to prove he can be every bit as successful at the college level as he was on the prep level and adding to his long list of accomplishments by earning a scholarship, playing time and, yes, perhaps even breaking more records.

stretch of the schedule, led to four-straight losses. The Rebels regrouped to win two games at the Jefferson County Invitational Tournament just after Christmas but the team was noticeably fatigued.

But the break between the JCIT and Tuesday's game did wonders. While Williams has seen his season end after surgery last week, the rest of the Rebels used the break to rest up and heal up and it showed against Providence.

Southwestern (8-5) trailed early but quickly established control as the Rebels' patented 1-2-2 zone defense did its trick. While Providence was vainly attempting to shoot over the zone, Southwestern was attacking on offense and the game quickly turned into a rout.

With all five players in concert, Southwestern quickly began racking up points. Billy Eccles hit two 3-pointers and Austin Kramer added a trey, Cole powered his way to the basket and Foster Mefford, Mitchell Cline and Bryce Hatton added buckets as the Rebels jumped ahead 24-8 after one.

That run continued throughout the second period as Providence continued to struggle to score. Southwestern's lead reached its zenith with three minutes left in the second on two Mefford free throws that put the Rebels ahead 38-13.

Providence (6-3) recovered by scoring seven straight points to close the half then opened the third quarter on fire, ripping off what eventually became a 21-2 run that saw the Pioneers get to within three (44-41) on a Zach Johnson bucket with 31 seconds left in the quarter.

Senior Sterling Huber ignited the third-quarter rally with three 3-pointers for the Pioneers and added a fourth as Providence outscored Southwestern 21-9 over that span.

"I reminded them that the first four minutes of the third quarter are critical and we let them right back in it and Huber got hotter than a $2 pistol," Bomholt said. "We couldn't stop him even when we jumped out on him."

Providence had the momentum but Mefford dashed that quickly. The junior all-star candidate was fouled on a 3-point attempt with eight seconds left in the quarter and hit all three shots to push Southwestern's lead back to six. Mefford then opened the fourth quarter with back-to-back 3-pointers to push the lead back into double-digits.

Just like that, the Providence rally was extinguished. The Pioneers never got the margin back under 10 and Southwestern quickly rebuilt its lead by going 6-of-6 at the free-throw line in the fourth quarter.

"This is a big confidence-builder for us. (Providence) is a nice ballclub and you can see why they've won the number of games that they have won," Bomholt said. "I'm sure that they are looking for a rematch come sectional time but right now we're going to enjoy this."

Mefford finished the game with 21 points on 5-of-9 shooting from the field and 9-of-10 from the free-throw line. He also had six rebounds, five assists and three steals while drawing nine fouls in the game.

Cole had 17 points and five rebounds for Southwestern while Eccles scored 16 points on 4-of-9 shooting from behind the arc. Austin Kramer had a strong overall line of six points, eight rebounds and three steals and Cline had six points and six rebounds.

Huber led Providence with 17 points while Johnson scored 11. The Pioneers were just 8-of-28 on 3-point attempts and shot 39% (20-for-51) overall from the field. Southwestern, by contrast, shot 46% (21-for-46) overall and outscored the Pioneers 18-3 at the foul line.

Southwestern's next game on Friday promises to be one of the Rebels' most exciting of the season. The Rebels host undefeated South Decatur, currently ranked No. 6 in Class 2A and averaging more than 90 points per contest.

Bomholt knows his team will have its hands full.

"We've got a team coming in here on Friday that is playing like the LA Lakers. Man, they're throwing that thing up and shooting it and we've got to try to neutralize them a little bit," Bomholt said. "We think we can and then we've got to try to take advantage of them on the other end. It ought to be a heck of a game."

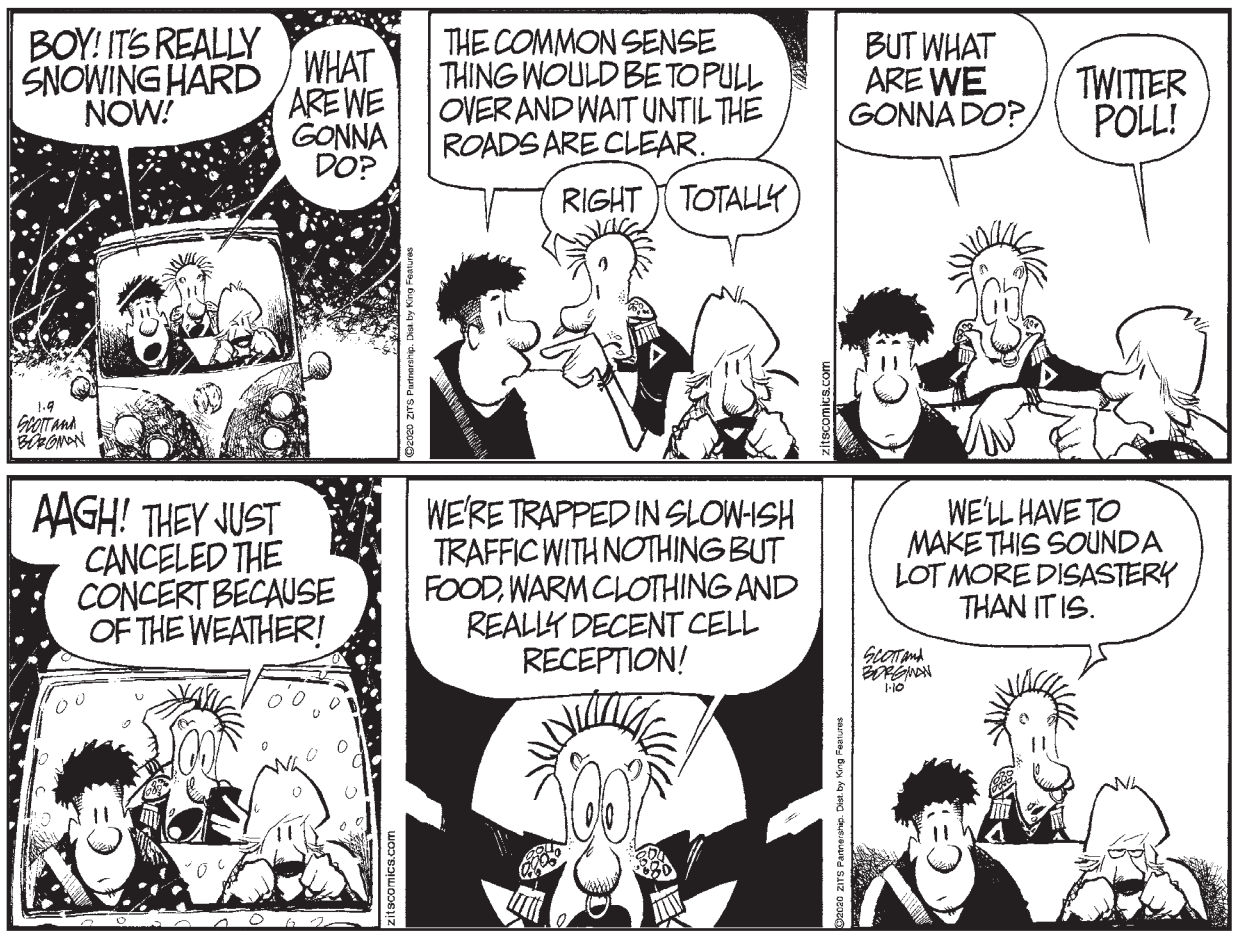
ZITS



BOY! IT'S REALLY SNOWING HARD NOW!
WHAT ARE WE GONNA DO?
THE COMMON SENSE THING WOULD BE TO PULL OVER AND WAIT UNTIL THE ROADS ARE CLEAR.
BUT WHAT ARE WE GONNA DO?
TWITTER POLL!
AAGH! THEY JUST CANCELED THE CONCERT BECAUSE OF THE WEATHER!
WE'RE TRAPPED IN SLOW-ISH TRAFFIC WITH NOTHING BUT FOOD, WARM CLOTHING AND REALLY DECENT CELL RECEPTION!
WE'LL HAVE TO MAKE THIS SOUND A LOT MORE DISASTERY THAN IT IS.

IS THIS HOW WE WANT TO SPEND OUR DAY? LOOKING FOR PAINT FOR A ROOM THAT DOESN'T NEED TO BE REPAINTED?
WE'RE JUST GETTING A FEW IDEAS...
AND DON'T WORRY. THIS WON'T BE SOME CORNY "I CAN'T TELL THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN BASIC WHITE, ULTRA WHITE AND ICE WHITE" BIT.
BESIDES, WE'RE LOOKING FOR SOMETHING BOLD.
BOLD?
OOO! "ELECTRIC PARTY VERMILION"!

BRIDGE

FROM THE HAND OF A TEENAGER

Fran Lebowitz quipped, "Remember that as a teenager you are at the last stage in your life when you will be happy to hear that the phone is for you."

Of course, she said that before teenagers had their own phones.

This deal was defended by Henry Rose, a 16-year-old English boy. He was competing in a training event for the England under-20 team with his partner, Jasmine Bakhshi, who is 15 and first played internationally just after her 11th birthday. Bakhshi and Rose will be competing in this year's world junior championships. It was initially described by Michael Byrne, who lives in Manchester.

South opened with the gambling three no-trump. This showed a solid seven-card or longer minor, but usually with no side ace, king or void.

The textbook lead against this opening bid is an ace. You hope, once you see the dummy, to know how to defeat the contract. So Rose led the club ace, but what did he do next?

If you like the idea of utilizing this rare bid, responder usually passes or (if unhappy with three no-trump) bids four clubs, which opener passes if that is his suit; otherwise, he corrects to four diamonds.

Opening lead: ??

Rose realized that his side had to take four spade tricks. But he had to make sure that the suit didn't block. At trick two, he led the spade nine.

This would normally be top of nothing, but East knew that South did not have a side-suit ace. She took dummy's 10 with her queen and returned the spade three. West won and led the spade six through dummy's jack-seven into the jaws of East's king-eight. Cute.

MELLO

Mello is a handsome orange tiger with lots of love to give. He enjoys being held, sitting in your lap, and is an excellent napper for those lazy afternoons. He would be the perfect indoor pet for any size family. Mello has been at the shelter since September 5.

PETS OF THE WEEK

The Madison–Jefferson County Animal Shelter currently has four dogs or puppies, and 16 cats or kittens available. Pictures of additional pets waiting for adoption can be viewed at www.sisaveapet.com

Normal shelter hours are Monday, Thursday and Friday from noon to 5 p.m., Wednesday from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m., Saturday from noon to 4 p.m., and Sunday from noon to 3 p.m. It is closed Tuesday. The shelter number is (812) 273–1788 and the email is animal.shelter39@jefferson-county.in.gov

All cats and kittens are $45 off unless they are already spayed or neutered. Discount is courtesy of the Animal Shelter and the Jefferson County Humane Society.

Volunteers are always welcome at the shelter. Individuals must be at least 16 years old to volunteer. Volunteers can help with everyday cleaning, answering phones, and exercising the pets. Contact the shelter for details.

The shelter is a registered organization with the Kroger Community Rewards program. To support the shelter, register a Kroger card at www.krogercommunityrewards.com and enter FL919.

Support the shelter while walking your dog. Use the "Walk for a Dog" or "Woof-Trax" app available through the App Store or Google Play. For each mile walked, a donation is made to the shelter.

A list of needed items can be found on the shelter website. Donations can be mailed to 2727 Hannah Drive, Madison 47250 or dropped off during shelter hours. The shelter also accepts aluminum and steel cans, which are recycled and the proceeds put toward the medical fund. The shelter asks that aluminum and steel donations be separated. Steel cans should also be rinsed before they are dropped off. Cans can be dropped off at anytime in a bin located on the east side of the shelter.

Those with missing pets can stop by the shelter, call or email a complete description of the pet, when and where it was last seen, the owner's name and contact information, and a picture of the pet. Pets are held for three days before they are made available for adoption.

Animals should not be abandoned outside of the shelter or dropped off at the shelter after hours.

For animal control issues in Madison, call (812) 265–3347. For animal control issues in Hanover and Jefferson County, call (812) 265–2648.

RYAN

Ryan is a spunky young grey and white tiger. He LOVES to play! An active home with toys and others to play with would be great for him. He's very comical, and has the shelter staff laughing on a daily basis with his antics. Ryan has been at the shelter since September 14.

Anger over insensitivity, grief cause rift

Annie Lane

Dear Annie: Since I was a little girl, I've always known I wanted to be a mother. Now, as a woman in her late 20s, and after four failed embryo transfers through IVF, that dream seems less and less a reality. My husband and I shared our news of infertility with his sister and her husband after they had spoken with us about their own inability to conceive.

A few months later they shocked us all with the news that they were pregnant after they stopped all fertility treatments and "quit trying." I felt like I had been punched in the gut but managed to quietly congratulate them, and left in a panic. I fell apart that day. Of course, everyone whispered and wondered why we left in such a hurry (and I think they told people). I was absolutely inconsolable in my grief.

Why would they shock me with this news, knowing what I have gone through? In front of everyone! Why would they not allow me the grace to handle their news in private? Why would they be so cruel?

Fast-forward to a year and a half later, and our relationship remains in tatters. I've seen them all maybe once, avoided get-togethers and holidays completely. I'm very hurt and angry with them still. I'm angry because they have disclosed our private matters with others and because they sprang their news on me with complete disregard to my feelings.

I have gone through all the phases of grief and am now healing on my own terms, but I feel that my relationship with my sister-in-law and brother-in-law is irreparable. Should I let them in on why I have avoided them?

I'm sure they already know but just don't care enough about our relationship to attempt to make amends. I haven't directly addressed the issue in fear of the resulting family drama that may ensue, which would only exacerbate my pain. I don't know how I should approach this problem or if I should just leave it be and keep avoiding them like I've been doing. I suppose the answer lies in the question of how much I valued their relationship to begin with. I need an outsider's opinion. — Bitter

Dear Bitter: It is completely understandable that you feel hurt, grief-stricken and jealous when anyone, let alone your sister-in-law and brother-in-law, conceive a healthy baby. Going through four rounds of failed IVF can be traumatic, and you have to be kind to yourself. The way to do that is to be honest and open with your grief to your husband and a good therapist.

Although it seems insensitive that your in-laws announced their happy news in front of you and other people, entertain for a moment that they were not thinking about you at all. In fact, they were thinking about how happy they were and wanted to share it with you — someone they care for. Try to forgive their insensitivity. They don't understand the pain and depths of your grief. The comment about how they just "quit trying" clearly struck you. If it were that easy, then a lot more people in this world would not be struggling with infertility. However, perhaps it was meant to be a spark of hope rather than a stab to the heart.

Try to forgive them and realize that they did not hurt you intentionally. The decision to let them in or avoid them is up to you. You have a nephew or niece that could benefit from all the love you have to give. But first, focus on loving yourself and keeping faith alive that you will be a mother one day.

My guess is that once you do that, you will have a much easier time letting your family in again. Best of luck to you and your family.
